Subject: Comment on Solicitation of Proposals and Comments on the Sale of Power by BPA after 2006

Dear BPA:

I believe the sale of power in 2006 and thereafter is a very critical issue for the people, environment, and wildlife of our country. To assure that all of these components are protected, we should adopt a clean and renewable energy strategy. This would do us all a favor. It would still provide us with the necessary energy, and it would do so in an environmentally-friendly manner. Dams could be removed, allowing salmon and other wildlife to be preserved, as well as taking pressure off of the Columbia and Snake River systems to be the primary hydroelectric sources. I hope you consider all of these points. Thank you.

Sincerely, Steve Miller
